You may notice that we almost always ask you to reserve a bit of noodle cooking water. Wondering what makes this cloudy water so darn special? It's salty and starchy, and those magical starches help make your sauce silky smooth. Basically, it makes good noodles great, and we'll never leave you with a bowlful of just good.

MORE IS MORE

If you upgraded your meal to double your protein or veggies and/or ordered 6 servings, you may need to cook in batches or larger cooking vessels. Remember: Larger batches may = longer cook times, so follow the visual and temperature cues. (For 6-person meals, combine the 2- and 4-serving ingredient amounts as needed.) For CustomPlate nutritional information, please refer to EveryPlate.com.

1.

Bring a medium pot (large pot for 4 servings) of salted water to a boil. Wash and dry produce. Cut broccoli into bite-size pieces. Zest and quarter lime. Use a rolling pin to crush peanuts in their bag.

2.

Once water is boiling, add noodles to pot. Cook, stirring occasionally, until al dente, 5–7 minutes. Reserve ½ cup noodle cooking water (1 cup for 4 servings), then drain.

3.

While noodles cook, pat chicken dry with paper towels. Heat a drizzle of oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. Add chicken and season with half the garlic powder (you'll use the rest in the next step), salt, and pepper; cook until browned and cooked through, 5–6 minutes per side. (TIP: If chicken starts to brown too quickly, lower that heat!) Turn off heat; transfer to a cutting board to rest. Wipe out pan.

↔ Swap in steak for chicken; cook to desired doneness, 3–5 minutes per side.

Heat a drizzle of oil in pan used for chicken over medium heat. Add broccoli and season with remaining garlic powder, salt, and pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, until broccoli is bright green, 2–3 minutes. Add ¼ cup water (½ cup for 4 servings) and cover pan; cook, shaking pan once or twice, until broccoli is tender, 3–4 minutes.

5.

To pan with broccoli, add drained noodles, Thai heat sauce, stock concentrate, lime zest, juice from half the lime, and ¼ cup reserved noodle cooking water (½ cup for 4 servings); toss to coat, adding more reserved noodle cooking water if necessary. Cook, stirring occasionally, until sauce has thickened to coat broccoli and noodles, about 1 minute. Taste and season with salt.

6.

Slice chicken crosswise. Divide lo mein between shallow bowls. Top lo mein with chicken and garnish with peanuts. Serve with remaining lime wedges on the side.

↔ Slice steak against the grain.
