You may notice that we almost always ask you to reserve a bit of noodle cooking water. Wondering what makes this cloudy water so darn special? It's salty and starchy, and those magical starches help make your sauce silky smooth. Basically, it makes good noodles great, and we'll never leave you with a bowl full of just good.

MORE IS MORE

If you upgraded your meal to double your protein or veggies and/or ordered 6 servings, you may need to cook in batches or larger cooking vessels. Remember: Larger batches may = longer cook times, so follow the visual and temperature cues. (For 6-person meals, combine the 2- and 4-serving ingredient amounts as needed.) For CustomPlate nutritional information, please refer to EveryPlate.com.

1.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Wash and dry produce. Once water is boiling, add noodles to pot. Cook, stirring occasionally, until al dente, 5–7 minutes. Reserve ½ cup noodle cooking water (1 cup for 4 servings), then drain.

2.

While noodles cook, open package of chicken and drain off any excess liquid. Heat a drizzle of oil in a large pan over medium-high heat; add chicken and season with salt and pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, until beginning to brown, 3–4 minutes.

3.

Add bok choy and napa cabbage, garlic-ginger scallion paste, and stock concentrate to pan with chicken. Cook, stirring frequently, until veggies are tender and chicken is cooked through, 2–3 minutes more.

4.

Reduce heat under pan to medium; stir in drained noodles, orange sauce, and soy sauce. Add splashes of reserved noodle cooking water as needed until everything is coated in sauce. Taste and season with salt and pepper if desired.

5.

Divide chicken lo mein between bowls.

*Poultry is fully cooked when internal temperature reaches 165°.
