Remove your burrata from the fridge long before cutting it in Step 5. Letting the burrata warm up a bit at room temperature will help it achieve the perfect texture when ready to serve.

MORE IS MORE

If you upgraded your meal to double your protein or veggies and/or ordered 6 servings, you may need to cook in batches or larger cooking vessels. Remember: Larger batches may = longer cook times, so follow the visual and temperature cues. (For 6-person meals, combine the 2- and 4-serving ingredient amounts as needed.) For CustomPlate nutritional information, please refer to EveryPlate.com.

1.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Wash and dry produce. When water is boiling, add pasta to pot. Cook, stirring occasionally, until pasta is al dente, 9–11 minutes. Reserve 1 cup pasta cooking water, then drain.

2.

Meanwhile, add bacon to a large, dry pan over medium–high heat. Cook, turning occasionally, until crispy, 6–10 minutes. Turn off heat; transfer to a paper–towel–lined plate. Wipe out pan. When bacon is cool enough to handle, roughly chop.

3.

While bacon cools, heat a drizzle of olive oil in pan used for bacon over medium–high heat. Add tomatoes and cook, stirring occasionally, until beginning to burst, 3–4 minutes (you can help them along by gently pressing with the back of a wooden spoon). Season with salt and pepper. While tomatoes cook, grate Parmesan over a small bowl (skip if pre-shredded).

4.

Once tomatoes begin to burst, add drained pasta, Parmesan, garlic herb butter, and ¼ cup pasta cooking water (½ cup for 4 servings) to pan; toss to coat. Add bacon and pesto and toss to coat, adding splashes of pasta cooking water as necessary until everything is coated in sauce. Taste and season with salt and pepper.

5.

Halve burrata. Divide pasta between bowls and top with burrata. Drizzle burrata with olive oil and season with salt and pepper.

*Pork is fully cooked when internal temperature reaches 145°.
